

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

Penn Station's Athlete of the Year - January 2017 Finalist

LOUISVILLE (January 1, 2017) -

We are thrilled to announce our January Athlete of the Year Finalist, Jameelah Lockhart, a senior student athlete at Moore Traditional School. Jameelah is recognized for her dedication to Cross Country and Running.

Coach, Heidi Blocker, says, "Jameelah was the only returning member of Cross Country Team this fall, and the leadership she showed throughout the season was phenomenal. It was amazing to see the team's admiration of her not just at certain times, but on a daily basis. For some, having all new teammates might have been a daunting task, but Jameelah thrived in that situation, always bringing positivity to the team environment. I feel lucky to have had the experience to coach Jameelah in her final Cross Country season as a Moore Mustang!"

Outside of running, Jameelah enjoys reading and writing poetry. In the past, she has had the honor of reciting one of her original poems at the World Festival.

After high school, Jameelah plans to major in English and minor in Peace and Social Justice with the hopes to become a Lawyer.

Jameelah will be honored as Penn Station's January 2017 Athlete of the Year Finalist by having her picture displayed on www.PennSubs.com website and in all 22 Greater Louisville Area Penn Station restaurants. She will also be entered to win a $5,000 college scholarship to be awarded in May 2017 to one of the eight 2017-2018 Athlete of the Year Finalists.
